FROM YOUR EDITOR'S DESK

With the new year of 1960 with us and prices soaring the hobby will be entering another phase and chapter of a booming hobby. "Coin Collecting". For some it is speculating, investments or a challenge. Speculating is always a chance of gain or loss, bear this in mind when buying. We have had a sudden surge for rolls with prices flipping up. This I feel is due to many wishing to have roll sets, which eventually will make and sell part sets.

The influx of speculators, investors and new collectors has increased and will continue to do so, thus the raising prices and demand. The new collectors start with the late issues and work back, let the collectors slacken and so will your late material. Many stamp collectors have veered towards coins as the market is better. I am happy to say our constant publicity advertisements and our contemporary coin publications have stirred interests everywhere, plus the many articles and news keeping the coin collector interested and informed which makes a better buyer. As per my previous editorials, I look for a greater banner year for the hobby in 1960.

PHONEY COINS as usual where there's money there's unscrupulous persons, a rash of robberies have been noted, also altered rare coins. Protect your collection with insurance or a safe place. I have recently noted doubtful coins, one being a 1916-D dime. Beware of the mint mark. I have seen an excellent altered "S". The upper part is removed giving the "D" appearances after the left side of the opening is smashed down which will close most of the gap. The "D" will appear small. Greed can be blinding, beware of the bargains, as I've said many times if you don't know your coins, know your dealer.

A BRIGHT FUTURE AHEAD—A word of advice to all collectors and beginners. It is the general conception accepted by most that all that is supposed to be known or discovered already has been. Books have been published, individual names and prominent dealers have been accepted as the authority and have scared off the little collector with his probing enthusiasm. I am surprised to note with my own personal research, the surface has just been scratched the field is young and green for the ambitious collector. There are many doubtful theories, new varieties and unknown listings. I hope to bring these different items to light in these pages monthly. There is too much time devoted to the money angle leaving less time for historical research and the science of true collecting.

DID YOU GET A LEMON? As the figure of speech goes, well, don't fret make lemonade out of it. I have seen some ridiculous prices and situations in our hobby, but if you can whether the storm you'll come out O.K. I have frequently heard of the 1957 proofs as a dud and going prices at $1.90 per set but I've always said I wouldn't be a bit surprised if they later turned out a good investment. Well it looks like it might do it. $2.75 is the going price now. Many of these sets were opened, handled etc. thus meaningless available. The kick off may be late this month, the latest Mint Report received enclosed in this issue list 1959 proof sets at 1,044,925 struck with one month December to go. Anything over 203,027 will make 1959 the highest issue of proofs ever struck, thus taking the lemonade and still enjoy it. Watch for a swing for popularity in another series.

"BEAUTIFUL MONEY"

By Harold Schornstein

If you were to ask a currency collector to show an audience of people some of the favorite pieces of his collection, he would surely have brought along with him, three bills, the set of Silver Certificates of 1896, in the denominations of one, two and five dollars.

Numismatists of all categories, whether they be currency collectors or not, have all seen this set, admired it, and know it by the popular name it has made famous, "The Educational Series".

It is not the rarest set of notes for a collector to acquire, but by far it is the most beautiful, that this country has ever issued.

Each note is a brilliant example of the best efforts, of the finest engravers that could be assembled at one given time. To engrave a bank note the accepted method, is for various engravers to contribute only that part of the note, which the engraver specializes in and therefore does best.

One man may thus do the borders, and another the lettering, another the portraits or figures, and still another the scroll work.

The finished product of the engraving of the "Educational Series" left us with three notes of such rare grace and beauty, that if the picture part of these notes were enlarged, they could rightfully hang on any wall of any museum, along side of other great works of art.

These notes are allegorical. That means that they allude to some reason or thing, worthy of mentioning and remembering. There is such a vast amount of interesting material on these bills, that pages of description would be necessary to fully transmit the complete story that each detail alludes to. I will try to briefly explain the basic portent of each note.

The front or obverse of the one dollar note shows a woman, allegorically representing "American History" with her right arm encircling a young boy protectively, her left arm pointing far out to the future. In the back ground, out in the direction she is pointing to can be seen the Washington Monument and the dome of the Capitol. She is seated on a massive stone bench, surrounded by beautiful shrubbery. The arms of the bench are ornamented with eagles standing over an American Shield. Her lap is draped with a flag showing a generous amount of stars. The left end of the bench or the right side of the note shows an open tablet or book. With the note in the palm of your hand and under a very weak magnifying glass, you will find that the book is open to "The Constitution of the United States" and that it can be read word for word very easily. Below the book is the Treasury Seal, which is on all issues of our paper money except the first issue The Demand Notes. The only difference, being, the seal is usually placed very boldly on all other bills, but on this one series, an effort has been made to make the seals as insignificant as possible so as not to detract from the beauty of the bills. Surrounding this whole picture are twenty-three wreaths with the names of great Americans printed in the middle of each. Names such as Longfellow, Adams, Morse, and Franklin to name just a few.

Thus the bill rightfully deserves the name "History Instructing Youth" which happens to be minutely engraved on the top of the face of the seat of the stone bench in the center of the note.

On the reverse of the one dollar note we find the portraits of the heads of George and Martha Washington. Martha Washington being the only woman so honored, as to have her face portrayed on the paper money of our country.

In an attempt at not being repetitious, I will now state what holds true for the reverses on all three notes. No where can you find more magnificent examples of beautiful scroll work, intricate complex borders, rosettes and intricate geometric lathe work that defies duplication, legitimate or otherwise.

I do not believe anyone could ever attempt to counterfeit this set of notes and expect to get passable results for their efforts.

The two dollar note is called "Science Presenting Steam and Electricity to Commerce and Manufacture."

This is shown by five allegorical female figures on the face of the bill. The center figure seated, represents "Science", who has two young girls on either side of her lap, who represents the two new sources of industrial power, "Steam" and "Electricity." She seems to be offering them to two figures seated at her feet, who represent "Commerce" and "Manufacture". Commerce is shown with a pouch of money or wealth at her lap and manufacture is shown with a mechanism of gears, and a factory type building placed behind her.

The reverse shows the impressive heads of Fulton and Morse, whom I need not remind you had something to do with steam and electricity.

The five dollar bill and the last in this series is well worthy of its two predecessors.

Its allegorical figures represent "Electricity" as the dominant force of the world.

This is shown by a prominent figure of a woman holding aloft a lighted bulb very gracefully. She seems to be standing on a huge globe of the earth, with her feet planted gently in center of America.

On her right is a figure of a man standing erect, but driving a team of three, excitingly active horses, with streams of electricity as the reins. The man's right hand is reaching up to the sky where he appears to be grasping bolts of lightning, and thus transmitting this power to the horses in a great surge of power and strength.

I told you where the one dollar bill was named, on the bill itself. The two dollar bill is also named in small print on the very bottom center of the obverse, but no where could I find the name printed on the five dollar bill. But we do know it is called "Electricity the Dominant Force in the World".

A picture is better than a thousand words, and if you will glance at the accompanying photographs, of these notes you will have to agree with me that if the allegorical picture part of these notes were enlarged that their artistic, and graceful beauty would entitle them to be placed along side of any other great work of art hanging in any museum in this or any other country.

Thus I end this small story about three bills printed by the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, showing a young country, growing rapidly rich in strength, power and learning taken from the roots of its leaders in all walks of life and the finished product being the United States of American as we know it today.

Book Reviews

MODERN WORLD COINS, Third Edition by R. S. Yeoman, is now on the market. As usual very informative and interesting. Foreign coins are proving popular with the collectors. Retail $4.00

MONEDALANDIA Manual of Numismatics by Jorge Elmejian of South America. An out of date issue is still available by the author. It refers to the early issues of South American Countries, shows mint errors and the mechanics of the production of coins.

U.S. PATTERN BOOK by J. Hewitt Judd, M.D. This new revised issue was compiled with the help of Walter H. Breen and Abe Kosoff, with the research and valuations. The book is very interesting with a wealth of new knowledge for the collector of patterns and trial pieces, well illustrated with prices of value. This is the first, with valuations I am sure with Mr. Breen's diligent research, new varieties and discoveries will be made.

Of particular note I observed the jump of some listings which went from recent sales of $70.00 to a now listed $250.00. Yet the noted 1882 Liberty nickels, (exact duplicate of the 1883) regular nickel alloy AW 1675 at only $90.00 with sales of over $1,000. Unless I miss my guess these prices were obsolete prior to publishing, or the listing counselor was not aware of what is transpiring in the hobby. All three listings are off by a mile or 50¢ a foot, take your pick. Out of the possible 36 known of the (3) listings combined nickel, bronze and aluminum I have handled (6) pieces. Aside from a large number of under priced listings I would say the book is excellent and a buy at $10.00.

CIVIL WAR MONEY by Fred Reinfield, well illustrated with Civil War Era, money of encased postage stamps, tokens and currency is now at your dealers' counter retailed at $2.95.

CANADIAN COINS, CURRENCY & TOKENS 2nd Edition is expected out for March 1960 by the Canadian Numismatic Publishing Co. Your editor was invited with the honor of participating on the panel in this edition.

Concerning Gold

By Starr Gilmore

California recently gained publicity by a newspaper article which stated that a valuable gold find had been made there, possibly the greatest in the history of the United States. It was further stated that the discoverer sold his interest to the owners of the Homestake, presently our greatest gold mine. As most of us are aware, it is located out of Lead, South Dakota, but it seems to get very little publicity. As far as our economy is concerned, we should have been far better off had the discovery been one of tin.

Known to very few is the now deceased and little lamented Senor Patino who managed to get a corner on tin and whose personal fortune was variously estimated as being something between 2 or 4 billion dollars. His career began in Bolivia and he did any number of eccentric things. One never explained act was the building of a reputed $30,000,000 home in South America which was fully staffed and in which he never set foot. The more salubrious atmosphere of the Waldorf in New York City seemed to suit him much better.

As a prolific source of human devilment in general, gold is almost without a peer. For example, and mentioned in the Guide Book put out by Whitman, the only known specimen of a $25 gold piece put out by Templeton Reid was stolen from the U. S. Mint on August 16, 1858, and nothing has ever been heard of it since. Of all brainless thefts, this surely ranks as one of the worst. Obviously enough, the holder of it would scarcely dare show it to anybody and could profit in no way by having it. And it is well known that the discovery of gold in California absolutely ruined Sutter. Of course, it must be admitted that he had plenty of company.

Sir Francis Drake apparently knew about the presence of gold in California but he dared not linger too long. And in any event, why bother with it when Spanish treasure ships were conveniently at hand well supplied with both gold and silver, especially the latter? As it was, Sir Francis was obliged to jettison 45 tons of silver. It was either that or go to the bottom of the ocean for he was unable to properly caulk the seams of his badly leaking ships. A freebooter of sorts he certainly was but also a valiant gentleman withal and hardly to be compared to such a horrendous person as Henry Morgan who sported an alcoholic bloom on his nose brilliant enough to show up on very dark nights.

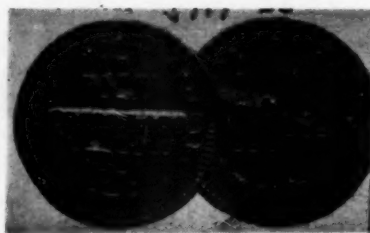

There have been two occasions in our history when such a thing as a $50 gold piece was actually a convenience and California is one and the first excellent example. And it is obvious enough that there is no mystery about this unusual situation. Prices in California went to astronomical heights and although a few may have gathered in gold by the bushel they also found themselves obliged to spend it by the bushel. We need not be told that merchandise that went around Cape Horn destined for San Francisco sold for fearful prices upon reaching port.

Clearly enough, anything like a complete history of the pioneer gold pieces would require the writing of a book of no very small size. And even so, there would be gaps in it of regrettable magnitude. At their time of issue no great store was set by the multitude of gold coins of private issue and many of them have been lost, melted, or unaccounted for in various ways. It was naturally a great inconvenience to do business with gold dust necessitating the constant use of scales. And the Government was not as swift as it might have been in getting around to the authorization of coins privately put out. And of course they all came to an end with the setting up of the San Francisco Mint.

Much to be regretted is the fact that so much of the gold coins are very little better than museum pieces. More than a few of them are unique and therefore no real value can be placed on them. And of many that are not of this order, they are still so few in number as to command prices of the impossible kind.

Typical of the expensive California economy is the fact that the smallest value put out is represented by a 25¢ piece. It is almost a wonder that such a small coin was put out for it is hard to imagine what it could possibly purchase. And until the Comstock came into existence, practically all California business was conducted on a gold basis. Whitman lists the $1 round at $160 when in uncirculated condition and none of the small coins are truly cheap.

To be kept continually in mind is the fact that California did by no manner of means have any monopoly on the issue of private gold pieces. Oregon, Colorado, and Utah also put out their share of these coins. And in common with their California sisters, the coins of these states command the usual fearful prices. For example, the $10 gold piece of the Oregon Exchange Company is listed at a mere $6,000 if in uncirculated condition.

And as might be supposed, records on many of these coins are woefully inadequate. In altogether too large degree, records apparently were not kept at all. Or if they were kept, they have long since been lost in oblivion. All these things naturally add to the difficulty of a situation that was not too good in the beginning.

It has always been a part of my supposition that possibly more than a few privately issued gold coins are treasured as family heirlooms and are in the hands of those who are not collectors in any sense of the word. And then we must always suppose that some of them have been put away in obscure places such as old trunks and attics and forgotten about.

One man of whom I have some slight knowledge lives near Eureka, Montana. He is a confirmed and soured bachelor who lives out of the hills and has little to do with anybody. As far as he is concerned, the human race is a complete failure. At the time the United States went off the gold standard he became thoroughly alarmed and decided that it was dangerous to turn in his rather numerous $20 gold pieces and Heaven knows what else. He quite possibly has several thousand dollars in gold. One of these days he will very probably drop dead and the whereabouts of his gold will be another unexplained mystery. We have more eccentrics of this kind than most people suppose.

Deseret, or Utah as it is now, put out some very interesting gold coins. And Brigham Young took enough thought for the money situation to personally supervise a small mint set up in an adobe building in Salt Lake City. Quite a number of Mormons were successful in picking up placer gold and a great deal of it was turned over to the church. Although it is true that most of the gold came from California, it is also true that some of it was picked up in other places, Nevada certainly, and possibly Montana. Even Washington managed to have a small gold rush, and is well known, it eventually extended to British Columbia.

According to Whitman, Wass, Molitor & Company at one time in their career minted $38,000 worth of their $50 gold pieces daily which would be 760. If this went on for any length of time, and apparently it did, the number of such pieces could represent a respectable figure. Nevertheless, they are the same as all gone since otherwise it would be impossible to give a list of $5,500 for an uncirculated specimen.

In general, most of the gold coins were honest although there were the inevitable exceptions. One greatly to be regretted factor which centers about the disappearance of so many is evidenced in the fact that more than a few were melted, made up into necklaces, chains, and whatnot.

Nevertheless, odd specimens still continue to turn up in unexpected quarters and there is no reason to suppose that this situation will not continue in some measure. One such example mentioned by Whitman is to be seen in the $20 gold piece of James King of William & Company. It came to light in 1955 and is the only one of its kind.

I have mentioned the fact that twice in our history the use of a $50 gold piece would meet a genuine need. But the second instance saw none in use at all. Alaska is the instance which I have in mind. As in the case of California, prices in Alaska soared to a high level during the gold rush and it was nothing at all to pay $50 for a sack of flour. Gold dust was in common use and for a long time the smallest coin in circulation was the 25¢ piece. And even the Alaska of today is by no manner of means a cheap country.

Gold and its possible future is a puzzle to many of us. As is well known, or certainly should be, Russia very probably has a greater gold hoard than any other country in the world, one that no doubt exceeds ours. And it is true that she could produce financial chaos for us if she saw fit to do so. Her release of a huge gold supply would produce inflation on a scale well nigh impossible to imagine. But if she did an act of such folly, then she would create as much trouble for herself as for us. And therefore I surmise that Russia will indeed think a long time before embarking upon an action of such kind.

Large Hoard of Commemorative Halves Uncovered

The late Thomas E. Sharp, financier and philanthropist bequeathed his coin collection which included 31,050 halves of the 1935 San Diego Exposition to his granddaughter Diane. This represents almost half of the total issued at San Francisco (70,000). If you were wondering where they were all these years now we know. If these halves were placed on the market it would depress the catalog price considerably, then again maybe hoard for another 25 years. Currently these halves list in the guide book at $4.00 X.F., $7.00 Unc.

A GALA NEW YEAR'S AUCTION

CHOICE MATERIAL PRESENTED

BY

J & E COINS

P. O. BOX 74

WICKLIFFE, OHIO

As so many prospective buyers of choice coins know, it's very disconcerting to order through the mail, coins that you really want at advertised prices, wait 5 days to three weeks, then get your check back with the terse comment, "sorry - sold out the first day."

This has happened to us many times in the past several months and we have given up. As a matter of fact, after many long distance calls, placed immediately after receiving our monthly publications, the answer always: "Can't possibly sell at advertised prices," or "sold out" or "only had a few at these prices."

It is our firm belief that the only way to buy desirable coins is to bid for them in a reliable auction. Successful bidders are notified at the conclusion of the auction and coins are sent out immediately upon receipt of remittance. In this manner you are sure to get the coins you want, and don't have to put up with returned checks. Of course complete satisfaction is always guaranteed.

Enough editorializing! now for your consideration, we submit the following choice material to be sold to the highest bidder. Sale will end on Feb. 11, Postage and insurance will be added to the successful bidders invoice.

To assist you in making your bids, we are listing the approximate prices.

To everyone including 25¢ (stamps or coin) with their bids, we will be happy to mail a list of prices realized.

Bid by lot number only.

JUST ONE MAN'S OPINION

The Carson City Dollars are the most underpriced series of all coins minted.

All one has to do is check the number minted of each year and you will see that there will never be enough to supply our five (5) million or more (est.) collectors.

Take the 1885 with only 228,000 minted. This would be one for about every twenty-one collectors.

Second comes the 1881 with only 296,000 and so on.

I have a few sets of the 1880 through 1885 complete in Strictly Brilliant Uncirculated.

For set of six (6) $34.50

Below are my prices for single coins . . . all Brilliant Uncirculated.

1878 CC 4.75	1881 CC 8.00	1883 CC 4.75	1885 CC 9.00	1890 CC 10.00
1880 CC 9.00	1882 CC 4.75	1884 CC 6.75	1891 CC 6.50	1892 CC 17.50

My second offering this month is, in my opinion, a small set with a future. The War Time Silver Nickel consisting of 11 coins minted 1942 to 1945. (See Red Book.) This set in Brilliant Uncirculated is beautiful and also underpriced in this booming coin market.

My price for the complete set is $9.95 Only until present stock is sold.

The 1943-D of course in this set and this is one that I compare in value to the 1942-D which is selling today for $6.50 each.

CIVIL WAR CENTS

About Civil War cents: Civil War cents were issued mainly in 1863 and 1864 by various commercial and private interests. United States coins were scarce in circulation at that time due to the hoarding of "hard money". The Civil War cents helped to fill the need for small change and circulated freely at the value of one cent each. Many different fascinating types and varieties of Civil War cents were issued. Some were patriotic with legends such as GOD PRESERVE THE UNION, ARMY & NAVY, UNION FOREVER and NO COMPROMISE WITH TRAITORS. Others were of designs such as eagles, Indian heads, Liberty heads, political figures, horses, flags, shields, etc. Still others were of an advertising nature with the names and locations of various businesses. The Civil War cents represent the only coins issued as a direct result of the war between the states and that actually circulated during the period (the famous Confederate half dollar and cent were struck in very small quantities and were never circulated). A group of Civil War cents will make a most interesting, historically significant and inexpensive addition to your present collection. The wide variety of types and designs available is unmatched by any other U.S. series. Civil War cents are reasonably inexpensive; select specimens may be obtained for less than one dollar per coin. Now is the time to add a selection of Civil War cents to your collection. The coming of the Civil War centennial in a year or so will enhance the value and exhibit interest of these items even more.

We offer Civil War cents selected from our extensive stock of these pieces — the finest stock in dealers' hands. Each coin is identified and is separately enveloped. Please order by collection number. Each collection is especially selected to include many of the most interesting varieties.

HOW TO IDENTIFY A 1864 L INDIAN CENT

Which of these 1864 Bronze Indian cents has the (L)? One can usually tell by the pointed bust, the occasion may arise when the date or the coin is considerably worn making it difficult to identify the scarce 1864 L.

If you will note it is the cent at the left, the pointed bust is over the one in the date, compare this with the rounded bust in the second photo. You can also see the rounded bust protrudes past the date. If you have sharp eyes you can actually see a white spec between the last feather and the ribbon, it is the engravers initial (L). Of interest also is the two types of designs of the feathers position at the word America. From 1864 to 1886 the last feather points between the I-C in type (1), in type (2) the last feather points between the C-A, type (2) starts, with year 1886, this date is the only one known with type 1-2. Type (1) is believed to be scarce. Check your Indian cents for these types.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL CENT

Commemorating the Hundredth Anniversary of Lincoln's Birth.

In 1908 Mr. Victor D. Brenner a famous sculptor sold President Theodore Roosevelt on the idea of putting Abraham Lincoln's portrait on a one cent coin. It is said the one cent was selected because more people would see and handle it than any other coin. It is possible that the wheat stalks were used on the reverse because at that time it was the most important food commodity of the nation.

About the middle of 1909 the first Lincoln cents were released for circulation. Mr. Brenner had placed his initials on the reverse of the coin. Many high officials objected to a mans initials being on a U.S. coin. The initials were removed after about 28,000,000 had been minted. The initials were restored in 1918 on the obverse. The Lincoln cent was the first cent to bear the motto "IN GOD WE TRUST."

It is my opinion that Lincoln has had his portrait on more things more times than any other living person. It is found on paper money, stamps, documents and many other things. The Lincoln cent has been minted more years without a change than any other U.S. coin.

From 1909 thru 1959 there has been about 27,000,000,000 Lincoln cents minted with a face value of $270,000,000. If they were packed in bags of 5000 each it would take 5,400,000 bags to hold all of them. Making 143 cents to the pound of copper compound it would require 188,811,189 lbs. (Copper coins are made from 95% copper and 5% tin and zinc). At 28¢ a pound the copper compound would cost $52,867,132.00. If a person looked at 5000 cents a day it would take 5,400,000 days, or working five days a week 13,699 years to look at all of them. If the population of the United States was 180,000,000 that would be enough cents for every man, woman and child to have 150.

Considering that it takes 16 cents to equal one foot and 5280 feet to the mile it would take 253,440,000 cents placed rim to rim to reach from the coast of Georgia to the coast of California, (3000 miles) or if all of them were spread out rim to rim they would make a strip 106 1/2 cents or about 6 1/2 feet wide from the Atlantic to the Pacific. If placed rim to rim they would go around the earth at the equator (24,000 miles) 13 and 1-3 times. Now if that is not a lot of cents, then I am lacking in sense. Now, if you doubt the figures quoted, then figure for yourself. I could be wrong.

—R. E. Fain, Watkinsville, Ga.

Hines Penny of 1799 Sold For $10,500

The rare "Hines 1799 Cent," most famous of the large U. S. copper pennies, was sold for $10,500 in the recent auction of the collection of 356 United States cents formed by Dr. James O. Sloss of Beaver, Pa.

The sale, which realized a total of more than $70,000, was held here by A. Kosoff of Encino, Cal., with Donald D'Amato as auctioneer.

Kosoff called the Hines cent a "superb rarity" and "the King of Cents," placing on it a conservative pre-sale estimated value of $8,000. "It is," said Kosoff, "head and shoulders superior to any specimens."

A 1793 "Chain America" cent with wide date, described as "the finest known" of this type, and estimated at $3,000, sold for $5,000. It was the Beckwith-Newcomb specimen.

BUY

AT 55% DISCOUNT

(from the 1934 value) by using cheap 1960 dollars (worth 45c).

MAKE TREMENDOUS PROFITS. A Gold price mark-up is inevitable and coming soon. Gold coin, selling at about 15% premium over gold content is a bargain—it costs only 1/2 as much in purchasing power as in 1934.

PROTECT YOURSELF. Gold is the safest inflation hedge. The U. S. Dollar is fiat money—irredeemable in gold. Historically fiat money always becomes valueless. DEFEAT the political spenders by buying gold—it is political dynamite. Strike a blow for free enterprise and sound money.

LEARN ALL about it. Read The Gold Report, now in its Fourth Edition, a 40-page booklet on Why, Where, and How to buy gold bullion or coin—legally.

Error in Hawaii Souvenir Comm.

A recent clipping received from a reader stated these commemoratives of the statehood of Hawaii had the word "Oahu" spelled incorrect as "Ohau". The chamber of commerce issued 25,000 of these. Due to the error publicity sales were unexpectedly high and an order for an additional 100,000 more pieces with the correct spelling made, according to E. Marion Sexton, manager.

Sales are reported at $2. each. We note these same coins are offered in our classified section at $1.00 postpaid.
